A trailer for a documentary series about former Spice Girl turned fashion design Victoria Beckham has been released.

It chronicles her rise from awkward schoolgirl to her world wide fame as Posh Spice in one of the biggest every selling female groups.

And then her transition to a fashion designer.

Superstar ex-footballer husband David Beckham is seen at the end of the trailer telling her he is really proud of her as she cries with emotion.

There is only a brief glimpse however of her estranged son Brooklyn who is also seen on a home video as a toddler.

There is footage of her other two sons Cruz and Romeo as well as the couple's only daughter Harper.

Other guest appearances come from fashion designer Tom Ford, former Vogue editor Anna Wintour who is hear telling her a fashion collection doe not look ready, and Victoria's close friend, Desperate Housewives actress Eva Longoria.

The two minute peek of the three episode documentary has Victoria narrating her own story.
