

FEATURE - Starenschwärme fliegen Bilder am Himmel

Reference

DUK10112645_014

Title

FEATURE - Starenschwärme fliegen Bilder am Himmel

Creation date

20181228

Caption

PIC FROM Tracy Lovelock / Kennedy News and Media (PICTURED: THE WHALE TAIL AS SEEN IN THE STARLING MURMURATION CAPTURED BY AMATEUR PHOTOGRAPHER TRACY LOVELOCK) This is the breathtaking moment a flock of starlings put on a dazzling air display to create optical illusions in the sky - forming a giant beetle, the Twitter logo and even Winnie the Pooh holding a balloon. Amateur photographer Tracy Lovelock, 57, caught the incredible formations on her camera last month as she watched an estimated 50,000 starlings at the RSPB Ham Wall nature reserve in Somerset. The array of unusual shapes were split-second illusions during a murmuration and appeared to show the birds form the outline of the iconic Twitter logo. SEE KENNEDY NEWS COPY - 0161 697 4266//KENNEDYNEWS_KE012070/Credit:Tracy Lovelock / Kennedy /SIPA/1901091014 (FOTO: DUKAS/SIPA)  Local Caption  00890185

Special instructions

(c) Dukas

City

Credit

DUKAS

Source

SIPA

Author

/ 00890185

Original references