Here's a first look at the new Ozzy Osbourne documentary which ends weeks before his death with his farewell UK show. The 76-year-old former Black Sabbath singer passed away at his home in England on July 22. It came just 17 days after his start-studded final show in his hometown of Birmingham at the Aston Villa football stadium. The feature-length documentary features wife Sharon, 72, children Aimee, 42, Kelly 40 and Jack 39. In it Ozzy and his family candidly about the late-night fall their father suffered in February 2019 in which he broke his neck and the life-changing impact in the Paramount+ documentary out in October. It led to him cancelling his two-and-a-half-year farewell tour. OPS: A clip from the documentary Ozzy: No Escape From Now. Sharon Osbourne
