Caption

May 14, 2018 - Hawaii, U.S. - At 8:44 a.m., HST. Aerial view of the active 'a'a' flow spreading from fissure 17 (the fissure's low lava fountains can be seen in middle of photo). Highway 132 can be seen on right side of photograph. View is toward the west. Photograph courtesy of the Hawai'i County Fire Department. Some 18 fissures have now opened up as a result of the volcanic eruption, with the latest fracturing on the Kalapana side of Highway 132. It is already spewing steam and lava spatter activity (FOTO: DUKAS/ZUMA)
