August, 1963 - Washington, District of Columbia, United States: The Kennedy brothers (from left) U.S. Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy, Senator Edward M. Kennedy and President John F. Kennedy at the White House. November 22, 2013 marks the 50th anniversary John Fitzgerald Kennedy's assassination. The 35th President of the United States was struck by two bullets while traveling in a Dallas motorcade with his wife Jacqueline, Texas Governor John Connally and his wife Nellie. The Warren Commission mounted a ten-month investigation that concluded Kennedy was assassinated by a single gunman named Lee Harvey Oswald. The commission also concluded Jack Ruby acted alone when he shot and killed Oswald before Oswald could stand trial. The conclusions were initially supported by the majority of Americans. Polls later found that as many as 80 percent of Americans suspect that there was a plot or cover-up the murder. Questions over JFK's death remain an American mystery. (Polaris) ///
